“Knit to Fit: Shaping Your Knitted Garments”

Lynette Harvey, New Zealand knitwear designer and creator of LynAdell Creative Knitwear designs (www.lynadell.com), will address a special meeting of the Sandia Stitch 'n Time needlework group at the East Mountain Library in Tijeras, on Wednesday, May 6, starting at 2:00 PM. Ms. Harvey's subject will be “Knit to Fit: Shaping Knitted Garments”.

“The topic of shaping hand knit garments is dear to my heart,” Harvey says, “what with all of our different shapes, and the ‘one size fits all’ attitude of manufacturers!”

Harvey's design career has included periods as a head designer for a New Zealand magazine, writing and designing garments for publication, as lead designer for top fashion houses, and 14 years designing for her own successful retail outlet. After winning a major award for a hand-crafted garment in the 1980s, she decided to focus solely on hand knitted designs. Her unique knitted designs highlight her devotion to the total design of a garment, from selecting the wool, hand-making buttons, subtle shaping and bias curves to complement the figure.

This special presentation is open to the public, free of charge. All interested knitters are invited to attend, and refreshments will be served!

The Sandia Stitch 'n Time needlework group meets on the second and fourth Saturdays of the month at the East Mountain Library, from 3:00 PM to 5:00 PM. For more information about this special presentation sponsored by Sandia Stitch 'n Time, contact Margaret Briggs at (505) 286-4085.
